MOUNTAIN TOWN OF HASTINGS SENDS ITS RELIEF FUND HERE

Sum of $104 Received for Belgian Aid as the Result of Concert

WILL BE GIVEN FULL CREDIT

Fund to be Sent to Headquarters at Pittsburg Along With Charleroi
Fund. Which to Date Amounts
Close to $1,000.

Testifying to Charleroi's fame in its relief work for the Belgian people a check was received this morning by mail from Hastings for $104, this being the receipts of a concert held in that city. The envelope in which the check came was addressed to the Belgian Relief Committee, Charleroi and inclosed was a letter in French telling of the concert and of the efforts to raise the money.

Hastings is a mountain town of between 2,000 and 2,500 population about 40 miles north of Johnstown in Cambria county. It is the center of a coal mining section and farming distinctly and has a goodly number of French and Belgian inhabitants. Probably the reason the funds was sent to Charleroi in the form of a cashier's check was because of the friendship of some of the influential French people there to some of the French and Belgian inhabitants of Charleroi. Johnstown was collecting a fund and so was Pittsburg but that made no difference to the Hastings folk.

The Hastings fund will be sent to Pittsburg along with the Charleroi fund and will be given due credit as coming from Hastings. To date a total of about $1,000 has been received in Charleroi for Belgian relief.

ISAAC W. BAUM ANNOUNCES FOR DISTRICT ATTORNEY

The candidacy of Isaac W. Baum for the Republican nomination for District Attorney is formally announced in this issue of the Mail. The yocoman service performed by Mr.
Baum for the party and its candidates for considerably more than a decade is generally well known to the members of the party located in the river section. Not that his interest in party affairs has been at all sectional for a place on the ticket has been a sure guarantee of his support regardless of the section from which the candidate hailed. His position and practice has been gained by hard work and close application to the duties of his profession. He is not only worthy of the preferment he seeks but has the ability and legal knowledge necessary to administer the office he seeks with credit to himself and his party due to the satisfaction of the public generally. 22-t1

AUTO ACCIDENT RESULTS IN SUIT

Dr. J. M. C. Reynolds, of Washington, and wife, Elizabeth E. Reynolds, Friday filed their statement of claim in a suit against Dr. F. C.
Duvall, of Monessen.

They claim damages in the sum of $4,000 by reason of personal injuries received by Mrs. Reynolds when an automobile driven by Dr. Duvall collided with an automobile driven by Dr. Reynolds.

The accident occurred on May 31, 1915, on the National pike, east of Washington, in South Strabane township, near the Barr home, following the accident Dr. Duvall was arrested and fined for exceeding the speed limit.

TEMPLE WORKING TO RE-UNITE PROGRESSIVES AND REPUBLICANS

CENTENARY TO BE OBSERVED
NEXT YEAR BY BENTLEYVILLE

Plans Being Discussed by Residents
Of Bentleyville for Big Celebration
Few Months Hence.

Older residents of Bentleyville and community are talking over plans for the proper observance of the centenial celebration of Bentleyville next year, which was named for Sheshtazzar Bentley, formerly of that community, and well known over the county. Bentleyville citizens are taking much interest in the matter, and promises to push forward matters to successful conclusions. Although Bentleyville, until the last two decades, was of little importance industrially, yet it is one of the oldest and best known towns in the county and has many places of interest.
Since the close of the Civil war meeting has been held there and visitors from all parts of the country have visited the place. A few years ago when the railroad came through the town and developments rapidly started the town grew by leaps and bounds until today there is a population of over 2,000 and the town is the metropolis of the whole Pigeon creek valley.

CARNIVAL DRAWS WELL SATURDAY

Big Crowd Attends on Final
Night—Miss McCann
Receives Ring

EIGHT ARRESTS REPORTED

An immense crowd was entertained at the Moose Mardi Gras at the ball grounds Saturday night. At 10 o'clock the diamond ring in the popularity contest was awarded after the counting of the votes, with Miss Nellie McCann as the winner. The count of votes resulted as follows:

Nellie McCann	22,213
Clara Wentz	15,282
Violet Evans	9,830
Catherine Connell	1,624
Clara Protin	1,584
Anna McGovern	200

The presentation speech of the ring was made by Fred W. Brady and Miss McCann accepted it, thanking her friends for their help. The two next highest Miss Wentz and Miss Evans will receive rings for their efforts. Somebody lost some votes somewhere, for 72 cents was reported for "Nobody."

A Ford automobile which was given away was tendered Miss Leona Stewart of Brownsville.

But eight arrests were made at the carnival and in the town on Saturday night despite the big crowd. There was little disorder. A man charged with being a pickpocket was arrested at the carnival grounds but he paid back what he was claimed to have taken.

Former Congressman Tells
Why He is Now Enrolled
With G. O. P.

ADMITS HE IS CANDIDATE

Maintains That Things For Which Progressives Stood Are Being Worked Out—Writes Letter to Campsey of Claysville.

Correspondence between former Congressman Henry W. Temple and D. M. Campsey of Claysville, just made public not only shows that that the former Progressive leader has gone back into the ranks of the Republican party, but that he is really now a candidate for reelection on the ticket of that party.

A letter addressed to Dr. Temple by Mr. Campsey asks whether or not it is true that he has rejoined the G. O. P. and if so, why. Mr.
Campsey says that if the former congressman is at variance with the Democratic tariff and other policies and in accord with the Republican ideas along these lines, he should be a candidate for the seat in the congress made vacant by the death of former Lieut. Gov. William M.
Brown of the Twenty-fourth district.

It is true, Dr. Temple writes under date of July 8, that some weeks ago he enrolled as a Republican. He says he believes the Progressives of Pennsylvania, having gained many of the points they sought in the formation of the Washington party, should now realize themselves without that perfected organization and finally admits that he is a candidate.

Dr. Temple says that a very large number of Progressives who joined the Washington party in 1912 went back into the Republican fold in 1914, because they were dissatisfied with industrial conditions and a very great many more are going back now because the last legislature enacted many of the more important acts relating to social and industrial justice that the Washington party contended for. He adds:

"The Republican party needs our votes: it is inviting us to come back and it seems to me is ready to come half way to meet us. With conditions as they are, I am pleased to see this movement. I am convinced that there is nothing more important in American politics than the reunion of these two parties before 1916, and in Washington county and the Twenty-fourth congressional district I intend to do what I can with propriety to bring about that reunion."

VETERAN GUARD ORDER IS ISSUED FOR CHILDREN'S DAY

The following order is issued by the Veteran Guard committee:
"Old soldiers are to meet July 15 at the corner of Fifth street and Fallowfield at 1 o'clock sharp to rally round the flag with the school children for it is to be children's day.
We are just as young as we used to be in rallying around the flag. The flesh may be weak, but the spirit is willing so Comrades, come out, run out, skip out, so you come out, or we will send a guard and get you out.
By order of the school children."

MEN PAST SIXTY

The well-known, so-called Osler proposition that men past 60 years of age are mostly fit only for the sliding board, got another hard jolt from the late quotation of a special war writers, who says General Joffre did not get his French army into real fighting trim until he fired 120 generals of different varieties many of them comparatively young and that he even called back for positions of the very highest order. A number of generals who had already gone on the retired list because of reaching the age limit. Moreover, these old fellows all made good; and one, General Manoury, who had been two years in private life when the war began, proved himself a potential contributor in winning the battle of the Marne, says the Pittsburg Dispatch.

Dr. Osler has declared that a false construction was given to his statement as to the dead-line of man's usefulness, but the misunderstanding persists, nevertheless, as is often manifest in many ways in commercial and professional life, to the discredit mentally and physically of men in the very prime of their qualifications. Any and all information calculated to dispel this false and cruel impression should be sedulously disseminated. Frequently those who seek work are turned down for no other reason than because they are honest enough to admit they are past 60. This fact should not be allowed to rob them of their chance. Put them to work, if there is work for them. If they should fail to make good, that is a brown horse of another color.

MOTHERS-IN-LAW NOT ALIKE

In a case in the court of domestic relations at Chicago, the judge said in his decision: "It is a case of too much mother-in-law," whereupon the assistant state's attorney exclaimed:

"Mothers-in-law are menacing the efficiency of the court of domestic relations. Seventyfive percent of the quarrels that come before the court could be settled amicably if the mothers of the wives would stay at home; the court should rule that no mothers-in-law be allowed in the court room when their daughters' cases are being tried."

That prosecutor was doubtless much excited when he made that remark, says the McKeesport Times. He let his tongue run away with him. We do not believe it is nearly as bad as he says. As a rule, mothers-in-law are among the finest people in the world. They are more kindly and thoughtful than most people. It has happened that a son-in-law has been insulting and abusive to his wife and then of course, her mother becomes indignant and the son-in-law rightly gets a piece of her mind.

Lack of disorder characterized the week's carnival which closed here Saturday. Due to the careful conduct of affairs and general conditions, this has caused much comment, since it is rather out of the ordinary for a carnival.

Through is cleaning off a small lot of triangular shaped ground between Washington and Lincoln avenues, touching Second street. Why more beauty spots are not created by the borough, when beauty spots mean perhaps more than anything else to the town, is a source of wonder. One beauty spot now is that of the bathing beach site, but there is a lot of room and plenty of opportunity for park cultivation of the town.

Another cement is made that is being used at the United States Steel mills. This is one of the best of its kind.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

One evening not long since a charming young matron was preparing to receive company when the door opened and the maid admitted Aunt Harriet, whose home was down in the enclaves zone, according to a city paper.

"Had to come to town to do some shopping," announced Aunt Harriet as her pretty niece rushed to greet her. "Well, I thought I would start early, stay all night, and get at it first thing in the morning."

"I am so glad you came!" exclaimed the niece charmingly, if not sincerely. "You are just in time. We are going to have tableaux tonight. 'Yes, I know,' was the prompt response of Aunt Harriet. 'I smelled them cooking as I came in the door.'"

Dinah had not seen her old mistress for two or three years. "For de lan' sake, missy, I sure is glad to see you a gain! How's all de folks?" "All just about de same, Dinah; and how is it with you?"

"Oh, we's all 'bout de same, 'cept Bill. You 'members my brudder Bill? The young one you used to give cookies to? Well he sure has grown! Lor' missy, yo jest ought to see him! So big and tall, folks all think for sure he am older dan what he is." "Is that so?"

"Yas'm, dat's de livin' trufe. He sure does look older dan what he is; but he ain't!"—Woman's Home Companion.

COME TO RESCUE OF BRUIN

Threatened With Extinction, Brother Bear Has Found That He Has Some Friends.

Since the bear has days brain has been an accepted symbolic representative of the Golden state. He occupies a place on its great seal, and, indeed, has become a sort of institution. When he is not working at his more legitimate job he engages in picking up worms, acting as a stanger around mountain camps and making an occasional raid upon farms in the hills. He has come to be known, in private life, as a rather amiable and lazy fellow, if undisturbed, and indeed it may be claimed for him that he has a host of friends.

But, Bruin, in the wild, has come close to the great divide. For many years he has made sport for the hunter during the summer, and for the trapper at all seasons. Nowadays there are not very many of him. Extinction is imminent. He is about to go the way of many another distinguished brute.

A Siskiyou county legislator has rushed to his relief with a bill prohibiting the killing of bears during the summer and eliminating at all seasons the trapping privilege. A like measure, it is said, is finding its way into numerous western legislatures, and is being supported rather than opposed by sportsmen. It is their hope that Bruin will be able to maintain his place in the sun.—Los Angeles Express.

When a man tells you that he is regular in his habits he is usually speaking of his bad habits.

The 1914 June bride who was going to have a French maid to dress her hair every day is now hollering because she can't dress up enough to have an African maid dress the floors with a scrub brush once in awhile.

What has become of the old fashioned young man who belonged to a political party because his father voted that ticket?

The man who doesn't advertise always finds plenty of time to sit down and curse the administration for causing hard times.

Love can laugh at locksmiths. But the ha, ha! is on the other side when the butcher and the grocer and the baker come around.

HIGH STANDARD OF WRITING

Professor Pays a Tribute to Newspaper English, Which is on the Whole Deserved.

"I will remember the pleasure with which, as a young man, I heard my venerable and practiced professor of rhetoric say that he supposed there was no work known to man more difficult than writing," said Prof. George H. Palmer, formerly of Harvard University. "Up to that time I had supposed its severities peculiar to myself. He goes on to recount the advantages which children of today enjoy over those of his own generation, and hopes that some of them will read the language he has used about the difficulty of writing extravagant. Then he says:

"Let me say, too, that since frequent ex has more to do with ease of writing than anything else, I count the newspaper men lucky because they are writing all the time, and I do not think so meanly of their product as the present popular disparagement would seem to require. It is hasty work, undoubtedly, and bears the marks of haste. But in my judgment in no period of the English language has there been so high an average of sensible, vivacious and informing sentences written as appears in our daily press.

"With both good and evil results, the distinction between book literature and speech literature is breaking down. Everybody is writing, apparently in verse and prose; and if the higher graces of style do not often appear, neither on the other hand do the ruder awkwardness and obscurities. A certain straightforward English is becoming established. A whole nation is learning the use of its mother tongue. Under such circumstances it is doubly necessary that anyone who is conscious of feebleness in his command of English should promptly and earnestly begin the cultivation of it."

Hungry Man's Mistake.

Prof. Sigmond Freud, the eminent German scholar, has made a study of lingual blunders, spoken and printed, and has embodied the result in his book, "Psychopathology." As an example of blundering speech, caused by subconscious cerebration, he gives the following:

"A wealthy, but not very generous American host, invited his friends to an evening party. Everything went well until about midnight, when there was an intermission for supper. To the disappointment of many of the guests, there was no real supper; instead, they were regaled with thin sandwiches and lemonade.

"As it was during a presidential campaign, the conversation turned upon the different candidates, and as the discussion grew warmer, one of the guests, an ardent Progressive, remarked to the host, 'You may say what you please about Roosevelt, but there is one thing he can always be relied upon to do; he always gives you a square meal.' He meant, of course, to say a 'square deal.' The assembled guests burst into a roar of laughter, to the great embarrassment both of the speaker and of the host."—Youth's Companion.

A Surgeon With "Sand."

The doctor suggested that if I could let him have a couple of men to direct those wounded men who could walk he would send them back to the Chateau of St. Marguerite, where the ambulances lay, three miles to the rear.

He had been working at least forty-eight hours, without cessation, but refused to stop ministering to the wounded, although by now his work had been supplemented by the arrival of two infantry surgeons. One of the new medics noticed that our surgeon was in no condition to be on his feet. A temperature of 103 degrees was the record of the thermometer. Examination presently revealed a bullet wound.

Under cross-examination our little doctor admitted he had been hit three days before.—A Captain of Royal Irish Dragoons in Collier's Weekly.

Bibles Sent to the Front.

Distribution of Bibles in Germany, Austria and Bohemia in the last few weeks has exceeded all records. Workers have discovered no fewer than ten different tongues in the camps and trenches. Great care has been exerted to keep from view all Bibles printed in English.

The American Bible society is active in the field and has some co-operation from the American Board of Boston, and the Religious Tract society of London. The British and foreign Bible societies have also been engaged in the distribution, workers in some cases traveling many miles to reach great numbers.

A depository for Bibles in Budapest has been exhausted. From Constantinople, one of the greatest agencies of the American Bible society, no word has come recently.

Extent of All the Russias.

Russia's extent may be gauged by the fact that European Russia is in itself larger than the other 19 states of the continent taken together, and when we include Asiatic Russia, western Europe shrinks into insignificance. The Russian empire comprises one-sixth of the total land area of the world.

It is four times the size of the continent of Europe, 42 times the size of France, nearly three times the size of the United States without Alaska and 70 times the size of the British Isles. There are 175,000,000 Russians, and yet Russia is the most thinly populated of the great countries.

Assembling Various Periods
Possibly we shall continue to look as though we were at a fancy dress party if we are assembled in empire frocks, colonial ones, those of 1880 and 1890, with a dash of Russian and Algerian. It is safe to assert that if 50 women were foregathered, each wearing a gown perfectly adapted to the new spring fashions, the appearance would be that they had responded to an invitation to a costume ball representing a half dozen periods.

Florence, So. Dakota—"I used to be very sick every month with bearing down pains and backache, and had headache a good deal of the time and very little appetite. The pains were so bad that I used to sit right down on the floor and cry, because it hurt me so and I could not do any work at those times. An old woman advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I got a bottle. I felt better the next month so I took three more bottles of it and got well so I could work all the time. I hope every woman who suffers like I did will try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. P. W. LANSING, Box 1, Allyn, Wash.

VALUABLE ARM OF SERVICE

Marines Can Point to Record of Great Distinction in the History of the Country.

Instead of telling it to the Marines according to the popular saying, the government is now telling it to the people who know all about the army and the navy, but comparatively little about the marines. Yet marines served under John Paul Jones they raised the flag over Tripoli, helped capture the city of Mexico, entered and fortified Guadalupe, were foremost in our troubles in the far west, and at Guantanamo. To tell the people all this and also what the marines do, the government has now an advertising bureau, which sends information directly and which in six months has been so successful that the old way of paid advertising has been discarded. The corps numbers are officers and 10,000 men, and there is not a vacancy. Attention of boys, city and country, is brought directly to the corps by photographs from life at recruiting stations, and literature that is "live" and readable. On enlistment, recruits are first drilled as infantry soldiers, then field artillerymen, and members of machine gun companies. For landing service and defenders of the naval advance they are taught the use of portable searchlights, wireless telegraph. They land ranges, place submarine telegraph lines, handle torpedoes, build and destroy bridges, mount ships' guns and so on. All of which it is apparent is a range of duties far wider than that of any other arm of the service. In short, the marine corps is for the first time perhaps becoming really known, and the knowledge shows what a high place it occupies.

WANTED SERVICES PAID FOR

Indian Had His Own Idea as to Recompense That Should Be Awarded Him.

A reservation Indian was disconsolate over the breaking of his ax handle. He laid his misfortune before the "farmer" of the reservation, who, through pity, took a new handle from his private stock and adjusted it to the ax. The "farmer" then noticed that the ax was shockingly dull, so, motioning the owner to turn the grindstone, he expended a half-hour's time in sharpening the blade. When the rehabilitated ax was given to the Indian he was childishly gleeful, but still lingered about, indicating by his action that some feature of the transaction had not been adjusted. The farmer was a little annoyed, and called to an interpreter. "Ask the old fellow what he wants now," he directed. After an exchange of grunts and gestures the interpreter announced, "He wants twenty-five cents." "Twenty-five cents! What for?" "For turning the grindstone."

The First Touch of War.

We did not encounter any battle-ships on the way over, but I caught a rather poignant glimpse of the war as we drew up to the Prince's landing stage in Liverpool. Long before any regular conversation was possible we saw a well-dressed woman on the dock. An Englishman with a voice worthy of the Bull of Bashan began to shout questions at her. "Have you news of Fred?" The woman nodded. "Good?" "The woman shook her head. "Is he captured?" She shook her head. "Wounded?" Again she shook her head. And a woman aboard who stood beside the strong-voiced man faintly. I don't know whether she was Fred's wife or mother.—From a letter to the Outlook from Arthur Bullard.

Largest in the World.

A plant laid out on a very extensive basis for the teaching and electrolytic precipitation of copper is being constructed at Chiquicamata, Chile. The ore body to be worked in this vicinity is in excess of 200,000,000 tons, says the Electrical World. The first unit of the plant now in course of construction has been designed to treat 10,000 tons of ore per day. The refinery will have an output of about 335,000 pounds of copper per day. Energy for separating copper from the ore will be transmitted to the plant from a generating station on the coast over 55 miles of line at 100,000 volts.

New Post Toasties

You may have eaten "corn flakes" but you have never tasted any that equal the New Post Toasties.

These new flakes, madam, are crisp and flakey, and have a substance and toastie flavour, a snap and zest that makes them distinctive.

Dainty to be sure in their sweetness, the New Post Toasties have a body and firmness that don't mush down when cream and milk is added; and a true ripe-corn flavour that makes one feel that here, at last, is something really new and good to eat.

New Post Toasties—selected Indian corn, prepared for the table as it was never prepared before.
